Use this website to help you find out lots of information about rationing:

Rationing in Britain during World War 2
(primaryhomeworkhelp.co.uk)

You can then present your work on rationing using the Purple Mash template. You can add images when you are finished.

Art Homework – Special Objects

Over the next two days you will be gathering objects for a still life picture that reflects your personality.

Task 1: Which special objects would you have to take in your suitcase if you were evacuated? Which ones are so memorable and important to you that you couldn't leave them behind?

Remember! This is 1940.....there can be no electronic toys or anything that relies on Wi-Fi! But you may have some treasured toys or special objects that will remind you of your family and the love you have together. You may also have some objects which show the hobbies you have – sports gear, important books, art supplies... Try to find different textures and colours too.

Task 2: Now bring these objects in on Tuesday 12th December. We will arrange them on your desk and you will take some digital photos. That way, you can take your treasured possessions home and keep them safe and we can start working on your still life picture from the photos.

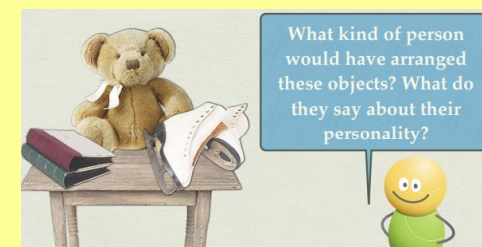

OK Year 6.....Start collecting!

Reading

Now is a great time to see if you can do another book bingo challenge before our prize draw on 20/12. Can you get another 4 in a row and a star on our reading display?

You could also set a 10 minute timer and challenge yourself to read in a pacy way like we have done twice in school this week.

If you need to browse for a book, try our virtual library: Meadgate Primary's Virtual Library | Meadgate Primary School

What kind of person would have arranged these objects? What do they say about their personality?
